

Presidents, Assemblies and Policy-making in Asia

This page intentionally left blank

Presidents, Assemblies and Policy-making in Asia

Edited by

Yuko Kasuya

Professor, Keio University, Japan

palgrave
macmillan

Editorial matter, selection, introduction and conclusion © Yuko Kasuya 2013

All remaining chapters © respective authors 2013

Softcover reprint of the hardcover 1st edition 2013 978-1-137-27726-8

All rights reserved. No reproduction, copy or transmission of this publication may be made without written permission.

No portion of this publication may be reproduced, copied or transmitted save with written permission or in accordance with the provisions of the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988, or under the terms of any licence permitting limited copying issued by the Copyright Licensing Agency, Saffron House, 6–10 Kirby Street, London EC1N 8TS.

Any person who does any unauthorized act in relation to this publication may be liable to criminal prosecution and civil claims for damages.

The authors have asserted their rights to be identified as the authors of this work in accordance with the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

First published 2013 by
PALGRAVE MACMILLAN

Palgrave Macmillan in the UK is an imprint of Macmillan Publishers Limited, registered in England, company number 785998, of Houndmills, Basingstoke, Hampshire RG21 6XS.

Palgrave Macmillan in the US is a division of St Martin's Press LLC, 175 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10010.

Palgrave Macmillan is the global academic imprint of the above companies and has companies and representatives throughout the world.

Palgrave® and Macmillan® are registered trademarks in the United States, the United Kingdom, Europe and other countries.

ISBN 978-1-349-44704-6 ISBN 978-1-137-31508-3 (eBook)
DOI 10.1057/9781137315083

This book is printed on paper suitable for recycling and made from fully managed and sustained forest sources. Logging, pulping and manufacturing processes are expected to conform to the environmental regulations of the country of origin.

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

A catalog record for this book is available from the Library of Congress.

Contents

Figures	vi
Tables	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Contributors	x
1 Introduction Yuko Kasuya	1
2 A Framework for Analysing Presidential–Legislative Relations in Asia Yuko Kasuya	10
3 Presidentialism in Korea: A Strong President and a Weak Government Yuki Asaba	40
4 Afghanistan’s Strong President and Weak Parties Yuko Kasuya with John Kendall	59
5 Trading Compromises: Interaction of Powers in the Philippine Presidential System Takeshi Kawanaka	89
6 Presidential Strength and Party Leadership in Taiwan Mitsutoyo Matsumoto	107
7 Strong President and Vulnerable Political System in Sri Lanka Hiroki Miwa	134
8 President Restrained: Effects of Parliamentary Rule and Coalition Government on Indonesia’s Presidentialism Koichi Kawamura	156
9 Conclusion: Lessons from the Study of Asian Presidentialism Yuko Kasuya	194
Index	204

Figures

2.1	The strength of Asian presidents	31
3.1	Electoral cycles in different presidencies	49
4.1	Timeline of executive and legislative terms	76
5.1	Interaction between two policy areas	97
5.2	Two Tax Reforms and Tax Per GDP	100
6.1	Hierarchical and transactional relationships in the two subtypes of semi-presidential systems	110
8.1	Indonesia's political system before the first constitutional amendment in 1999	159
8.2	Indonesia's political system after the fourth constitutional amendment in 2002	161
8.3	Number of established laws since independence	171

Tables

2.1	Regime classification in Asia	15
2.2	Constitutional powers over legislation	20
2.3	Expected level of party discipline	27
2.4	Party system and coalition status	29
2.5	Partisan powers of Asian presidents as of 2008	30
3.1	Typology of partisan power	46
4.1	Timeline of the Constitution-making process	65
4.2	Classification of political parties in the 2005 Wolesi Jirga election	73
4.3	Composition of legislative groupings by ethnicity	74
4.4	Budget approval by Wolesi Jirga	78
4.5	Summary of legislative activities of the first Wolesi Jirga	80
5.1	President and Congress under the 1987 Constitution	90
5.2	Institutional players and expected behaviour	92
5.3	Legislative power of the president	96
5.4	Enactment rates at the House of Representatives	98
5.5	Enactment rates of president's bills in the House of Representatives	99
5.6	Presidential proposals and final budgets	101
5.7	Pork barrel funds in 2002 and 2003 budgets	103
6.1	Presidents and premiers and their terms in office	112
6.2	Number and share of seats won by parties in legislative elections	116
6.3	Partisan power of presidents	117
6.4	Number of bills approved in each session in the Legislative Yuan	119

6.5	Bill approval rate and average number of days of discussion until approval of bill in fourth Legislative Yuan	120
6.6	Bill approval rate and the average number of days for discussion until approvals of the bills from the first to the third session in the seventh Legislative Yuan	122
7.1	Results of presidential elections (1982–2010)	138
7.2	Results of parliamentary general elections (1989–2010)	139
8.1	Relationship between the president and the parliament	166
8.2	Number of established laws	172
8.3	Number of established laws according to policy areas	175
8.4	Periods of deliberation	178
9.1	Summary of findings	201

Acknowledgements

The authors would like to express their gratitude to the Suntory Foundation for its financial support. Some parts of the manuscript have been published in Japanese by the Minerva Publishing Co. We acknowledge the generosity of Minerva for allowing us to use the English translation of those parts. We also thank Christina Brian of Palgrave Macmillan for her editorial guidance throughout the publication process.

Contributors

Yuki Asaba is Associate Professor at the Faculty of Intercultural Studies, Yamaguchi Prefectural University (Yamaguchi, Japan) and Adjunct Professor at the University of North Korean Studies (Seoul, Korea). He received his PhD in Political Science from Seoul National University in 2006. His major works in English are ‘Three-tier Model of Linkage Failure in Duverger’s Law’ and ‘Loser’s Discontent in Korean Presidential Primary’, both in the Japanese Journal of Electoral Studies. He is currently working on a book-length project provisionally titled Rice and Votes: Institutional Foundations of Agricultural Protectionism in Japan and Korea.

Yuko Kasuya is Professor of Political Science at Keio University, Tokyo, Japan. Her main research and teaching interests are in the areas of political institutions, good governance and international development. She is the author of Presidential Bandwagon: Parties and Party Systems in the Philippines (2008), and co-editor of Politics of Change in the Philippines (2010) and Comparative Politics of Civil Society (in Japanese, 2008). Her articles have also appeared in Electoral Studies, Pacific Affairs and Party Politics, among others.

Takeshi Kawanaka is Senior Research Fellow of the Institute of Developing Economies (IDE), Japan. He has published articles on the formation of political institutions in developing countries, instability of new democracies, and political institutions and policy outcomes. He is also author of Power in a Philippine City (2002).

Koichi Kawamura is Associate Senior Research Fellow at the Institute of Developing Economies (IDE), Japan. His research interests lie in the fields of constitutional politics, political institutions, and elections in Indonesia. His publications include ‘Politics of the 1945 Constitution: Democratization and Its Impact on Political Institutions in Indonesia’, IDE Research Papers No.3, September 2003, and ‘Political Reform in the Post-Soeharto Era’, in Yuri Sato (ed.), Indonesia Entering a New Era: Abdurrahman Wahid Government and Its Challenge (2000).

John Kendall is an active-duty US Army officer who has served in both conventional and special operation units. As a soldier he has deployed to Iraq and Afghanistan during which he gained a ground-level perspective of the military and political situation. He is a PhD candidate at Stanford University's Political Science Department. He currently teaches American Politics at the United States Military Academy at West Point.

Mitsuyo Matsumoto is Associate Professor of the Faculty of International Studies at Tenri University, Nara, Japan. He received his PhD in political science from Kobe University in 2001. He is the author of A Study of the KMT Party-Owned Enterprises (2002 [in Japanese]). He has also written several articles and book chapters on democratization and democratic politics in Taiwan, including 'Reorganizing the Plutocracy and Political Corruption' and 'The KMT's Return to Power: Ma Ying-jeou and his Election Strategy'; both appeared in Masahiro Wakabayashi (ed.), Taiwanese Politics in the Post-democratization Period: Eight Years of Chen Shui-bian Administration (2010 [in Japanese]).

Hiroki Miwa is Research Fellow at the Slavic Research Center, Hokkaido University, Japan. He obtained his MA in International Political Economy from the University of Tsukuba, Japan. His main research interests are in the areas of comparative politics and the politics of South Asia. His publications include: 'Sri Lanka: the Prominence of Cleavage Voting', in Yasushi Hazama (ed.), Voting Behavior in Asian Democracies: Cleavages and the Economy (2009 [in Japanese]), among others.