

BEFORE THE EMPIRE OF ENGLISH

This page intentionally left blank

BEFORE THE EMPIRE OF ENGLISH:
LITERATURE, PROVINCIALITY, AND NATIONALISM IN
EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY BRITAIN

Alok Yadav

palgrave
macmillan

BEFORE THE EMPIRE OF ENGLISH

Copyright © Alok Yadav, 2004.

Softcover reprint of the hardcover 1st edition 2004 978-1-4039-6496-0

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be used or reproduced in any manner whatsoever without written permission except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles or reviews.

First published 2004 by
PALGRAVE MACMILLAN™
175 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10010 and
Houndmills, Basingstoke, Hampshire, England RG21 6XS
Companies and representatives throughout the world

PALGRAVE MACMILLAN is the global academic imprint of the Palgrave Macmillan division of St. Martin's Press, LLC and of Palgrave Macmillan Ltd. Macmillan® is a registered trademark in the United States, United Kingdom and other countries. Palgrave is a registered trademark in the European Union and other countries.

ISBN 978-1-349-52854-7 ISBN 978-1-4039-8115-8 (eBook)

DOI 10.1057/9781403981158

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Yadav, Alok

Before the empire of English : literature, provinciality, and nationalism in eighteenth-century Britain / Alok Yadav.

p. cm.

Includes bibliographical references (p.) and index.

1. English literature—18th century—History and criticism.
  2. National characteristics, British, in literature.
  3. Nationalism and literature—Great Britain—History—18th century.
  4. Great Britain—Civilization—European influences.
  5. Great Britain—Civilization—18th century.
  6. English literature—European influences.
  7. Great Britain—Relations—Europe.
  8. Europe—Relations—Great Britain.
  9. Nationalism in literature.
  10. Imperialism in literature.
- I. Title.

PR448.N38Y33 2004

820.9'358'09033—dc22

2003067756

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

Design by Newgen Imaging Systems (P) Ltd., Chennai, India.

First edition: July 2004

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

For Zofia

This page intentionally left blank

CONTENTS

|  |      |
|--|------|
| Acknowledgments                               | viii |
| Introduction (Dis)establishing the Empire of English | 1    |
| 1. The Progress of English                           | 21   |
| 2. The Republic of Letters                           | 55   |
| 3. National Differences and National Autonomy        | 111  |
| Notes   | 177  |
| Index   | 215  |

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This book has been a long time in the making and owes much to the steady support of friends, family, and colleagues. I owe a lot to my fellow graduate students at Cornell University and to the faculty there, especially Laura Brown and Satya Mohanty. That experience of critical exchange and intellectual purposefulness has provided a crucial grounding ever since, and not only for my work on this book. I'm grateful for the financial support provided by a Mellon Fellowship in the Humanities during my time in graduate school, and had the good fortune to spend two years on a Mellon postdoctoral fellowship at the California Institute of Technology, where Kevin Gilmartin and Susan Ueki helped make the experience both intellectually productive and personally memorable. At the University of Chicago, I enjoyed the stimulation of the thinking and research going on around me, in the English department and with the Committee on South Asian Studies. Lisa Freeman, Joshua Scodel, Elaine Hadley, Laura Rigal, Loren Kruger, Chris Looby, Katie Trumpener, Jim Chandler, and J. Paul Hunter all helped to make my time in Chicago both productive and engaging. My latest debt, to my colleagues in the English department at George Mason University, and my longest-standing one, to my parents and siblings, are the most palpable. At George Mason, I owe most to Denise Albanese, Devon Hodges, Deborah Kaplan, and Kristin Samuelian in sustaining this work and bringing it to completion, and wish to acknowledge also the University's support in time off from teaching through a Mathy Fellowship and through junior faculty leave. To my sister, brother, and my parents—and to their patience—I owe much of my critical bent. My final thanks, and what I am least able to express adequately, go to Zofia Burr, for her partnership through this work and her love around and beyond it, and to Leela, who little knows how much her little might is.